The Politics of Survival

"Peacemongering and the Politics of Survival" is the subject of a lecture to be given by University of Toronto Chancellor, Dr. George Ignatieff, March 7, 12:30 p.m. in Room 3C01. Dr. Ignatieff is in Winnipeg to participate in the Manitoba Peace Associates Conference.

Dr. Ignatieff was born in St. Petersburg, Russia. His parents, aristocrats who had important careers in the service of the tsars, were forced to flee at the onset of the revolution in 1917. Dr. Ignatieff came to Canada in 1928 and became a Canadian citizen by naturalization in 1935.

Dr. Ignatieff attended Toronto's Central Technical School and Jarvis Collegiate Institute, and graduated from the University of Toronto in 1936. He won a Rhodes scholarship, and was awarded the Maurice Cody Scholarship in Canadian Constitutional Law.

In 1940, Dr. Ignatieff was appointed to the Department of External Affairs as temporary Third Secretary and Private Secretary to the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada in London. Over the next three decades, he was involved in many significant international events. He served as Canada's Ambassador to the United Nations and as the country's permanent representative to NATO and to the disarmament committee in Geneva.

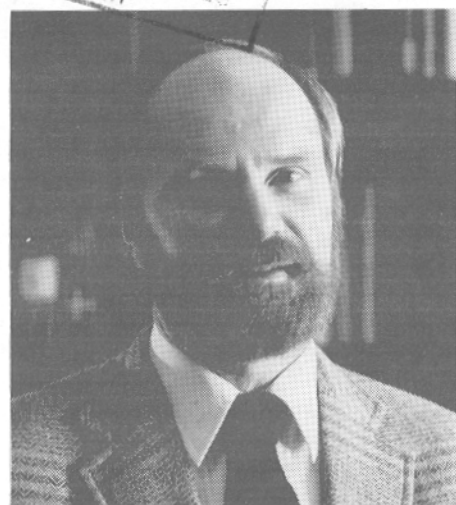

Dr. Ignatieff's work has resulted in many honours and awards: he is a Companion of the Order of Canada; he holds Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees from eight universities; he was the recipient of the Centenary Medal (1967), the Jubilee Medal (1977), and the Pearson Peace Medal (1984).

Dr. Ignatieff's recently published memoir is entitled "The Making of a Peacemonger" (University of Toronto Press).

The 1986 Newcombe Family Lectureship

As part of the Newcombe Family Lectureship on Religion and the Human Condition, Dr. Paul D. Hanson will give two public lectures: "Biblical Apocalyptic: The Social Dimension" March 31, 12:30 p.m. in Theatre 3C00; and "Biblical Apocalyptic: The Theological Dimension" March 31, 7:30 p.m. in Theatre 3C00.

Dr. Hanson is Bussey Professor of Divinity and Professor of Old Testament at Harvard Divinity School. He is the author of many articles on various theological and historical topics, as well as the widely acclaimed books The Dawn of Apocalyptic (1975), Dynamic Transcendence (1978) and The Diversity of Scripture (1982).

The 1986 Elizabeth Laird Lecture Series

The 1986 Elizabeth Laird Lecture will be given by Dr. J. Gordin Kaplan, Vice-President (Research) of the University of Alberta. The lecture is entitled "Ethical and Social Implications of Modern Biology and Biotechnology" and will take place Wednesday, March 5 at 8:15 p.m. in Room 1L10 (Lockhart Hall), The University of Winnipeg.

A native of New York City, New York, Kaplan attended the College of the City of New York where he graduated with a B.A. in 1943. From 1943 to 1946, Kaplan was in active service with the U.S. Army Medical Department as a Surgical Technician. He attended Columbia University from 1946 to 1950 earning his M.A. and Ph.D. in Biology.

Dr. Kaplan is active in numerous scientific societies including the Society of Social Responsibility in Science and the Canadian Biochemical Society. He is Founding Vice-President of the Edmonton Council for Advanced Technology and is a member of the Alberta Cancer Board

Research Committee.

Kaplan was the co-editor of the Canadian Journal of Biochemistry from 1973 to 1981. He has contributed to numerous scientific publications including the Canadian Journal of Biochemistry and Physiology, and the American Journal of Pathology.

The Elizabeth Laird Lecture Series has been established at a number of universities across Canada at the bequest of Elizabeth Laird, a prominent physicist who taught at the University of Toronto.

Profile - Margaret Unruh

Margaret Unruh is enthusiastic about her position as Academic Student Advisor at The University of Winnipeg. Her genuine interest in the well-being of students is an excellent qualification for the position.

Margaret has always felt comfortable in academic environments. She grew up in rural Manitoba, living very close to the school in which her father was the only teacher. Following the celebration of her seventeenth birthday, Margaret decided to move to Winnipeg and further her education. She completed the R.N. program at St. Boniface Hospital and worked in the operating room at Concordia Hospital. The next few years were spent in the United States, where Margaret worked as a nurse while her husband completed his Ph.D. In the States, the Unruhs developed a love of sailing and the theatre.

Shortly after her return to Winnipeg, Margaret commenced work on a B.A. at The University of Winnipeg. "I was looking at other career options", she said. Margaret worked in the bookstore for three years and then applied for the position as Academic Student Advisor. "I was ready to go into a more challenging position", she said, "but I wanted to remain working with students".

Margaret explained the two-pronged nature of the job. "I work with the Education Director, advising Education students about course offerings and degree planning. Together with the Dean of Students, I give information on everything from student fees to degree requirements". Margaret's counselling sessions are frequent, particularly during registration. "One day last year I saw sixty students" she recalled.

Despite the occasional hectic day, Margaret finds her work very gratifying. "One of the most interesting aspects of my job is working with disabled students", she said. "I'm interested in investigating the expansion of services to these students".

In one and a half years of advising, Margaret said her relationships with the students have always been pleasant. That's a pretty good record.

Did You Know That

As part of its public awareness activities, the Social Science Federation of Canada will be producing "Did you know that . . . ?"/"Le savez vous?", a programme of two-minute radio clips on the social sciences, to be broadcast daily by satellite over private radio stations country-wide. The clips will take the form of interviews with researchers working in Canadian universities and related institutions (or Canadians working abroad). Although Ottawa-based, the programme will not be Ottawa-oriented and SSFC intends to give equitable coverage to all social science disciplines, in both official languages, and covering all regions of the country.

Programme interviews will be conducted by Mildred MacDonald and Marie-José Dancoste. Any social science faculty members who will be travelling to Ottawa for meetings, conferences, etc. are asked to contact Michelle Albagli, Coordinator, at (613) 238-6112.

Playwrights on Tour

Since the beginning of the Playwrights on Tour series in September, a number of noted Canadian playwrights have lectured to University of Winnipeg audiences. In March, Ken Gass and Rachel Wyatt will give their perspectives on "plays and playwrighting" as part of the tour.

Ken Gass has been at the forefront of Canadian theatre since the early 1970's, when he founded Toronto's Factory Theatre Lab, the first theatre dedicated to producing Canadian plays. Actor, director, and educator, Ken is the Artistic Director of the Canadian Repertory Theatre, whose mandate includes the production of new plays and the remounting of Canadian classics. Gass' plays include Winter Offensive, The Boy Bishop, and Hunting for Johnny Canuck.

Rachel Wyatt's literary career includes three critically acclaimed novels, radio plays for CBC, BBC, and networks in Australia, New Zealand and Europe, and plays for the stage. Her plays Geometry and Chairs and Tables were first presented by Taragon Theatre where she served as playwright-in-residence.

Project Gets Green Light

David Cheal, Sociology, has received written confirmation of his award from SSHRCC's Strategic Grants Program in the Family and the Socialization of Children for his project, The Moral Economy of Family Life.

The purpose of this project is to investigate a number of questions concerning the economic functioning of families in the contemporary Canadian social environment. The knowledge gained from the analyses undertaken will be related to current social policy concerns, such as the nature of the social benefits that are derived from government transfers to individuals, and the relative allocations of income between men and women within the family. Information on these issues is needed in view of the continuing debates about changes to such transfer programmes as Old Age Security, the Family Allowance and tax deductions for dependent spouses and children.

Trophy Captured

The 17th annual Faculty and Staff Bonspiel was played in the Granite Curling Club on Thursday, February 20. For the third time in the last four years the trophy was captured by the Bedford-Farquhar rink, on which Dr. Bedford and President Farquhar were supported by James Bedford (4th year Physics) and Chris Dondo (of Printing Services). They experienced a difficult struggle, however, as their first two games both entered extra ends and the semi-final and final games were both decided by the last stone thrown. In fact, a measure was required to determine the result in the final game. Finishing second and runner-up was R. Mikulik, the defending champion of 1985. Other rinks to lose only one game all day were skipped by Karen Mikulik, Dean M. Watts, and David Anderson who were, respectively, winners of the Third Place Play-off, the Second Event and the Third Event. The popular "mid-term break" event was well attended and, as in past years, some rinks and individuals entered for the first time.

Quantitative data on the issues described above will be obtained from the 1987 and 1988 Winnipeg Area Studies, under the direction of Professor Raymond F. Currie. The Winnipeg Area Study is a cross-sectional random sample survey of the City of Winnipeg. Conducted as a joint project by the Institute for Social and Economic Research and the Sociology Department at the University of Manitoba, it has a growing reputation for original contributions to knowledge in urban research. Qualitative data will be gathered under the direction of David Cheal in follow-up interviews with the families of respondents selected from the Winnipeg Area Study samples. This two-stage research design will provide a rare opportunity to make systematic comparisons between different kinds of data on family life.

Daycare on Film

University of Winnipeg daycare employees were looking for a unique way to introduce the recently implemented Child Care Worker Training Program to the community. Program Director Sharon Balasko said that a video, centered on the three daycare centres on campus, would be an inexpensive and easily transported means of publicity.

Balasko said that although the video was prepared with high school audiences in mind, it will also be available to groups who are interested in the concept of the program but who live outside of Winnipeg and are unable to observe the program first-hand. In fact, the film premiered in Peru last weekend, when Professor Sarah McKinnon (History) presented it to the administrators of the Peruvian Children's Fund. McKinnon, in Peru to attend a conference on Mayan culture, was asked to explore child-care projects in that country on behalf of the Office of the Vice-President (Academic).

Balasko said she hopes the video will be screened at The University of Winnipeg in the near future.

Best in the Class

February 15, 1986 was a bitterly cold day. While most of us were daydreaming of building sandcastles on the beach, three brave University of Winnipeg alumni were preparing their entry for the Ford Company's "Best in the Class" snow sculpture competition. When the UWSA failed to enter a team to represent The University of Winnipeg, Carol Mikulik, Karen Mikulik, and Ron Gibson came forward with commendable school spirit. "Two cars were displayed on the Ford parking lot", Carol explained. "The three schools (University of Manitoba, The University of Winnipeg, and Red River Community College) were to choose one to sculpt".

From 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. the group worked dilligently. "Our car looked like it belonged to the Flintstones", Carol admitted. "But it was fun". Karen added that "one team had chain saws and blow torches, while we had only four shovels and a piece of wood". Though the group's entry placed third, their efforts resulted in a donation from Ford of a $250.00 general scholarship for a University of Winnipeg student.

Honorary Degrees

The Senate of The University of Winnipeg invites, from the University community and the public, nominations of candidates for consideration as possible recipients of honorary degrees. Such nominations should include the name and biographical summary of the nominee, along with a statement of the nominator's reasons for making the nomination and the name of the nominator. These submissions should be sent to the Honorary Degrees Committee's Secretary, Mr. R.M. Bellhouse, Registrar of the University, as soon as possible.
