

SNOOPY DETECTIVE AGENCY SOLVES CRIME

The Snoopy Detective Agency released its final report on the Murder Mystery Contest murder today.

Following an extensive investigation into the facts and circumstances surrounding the murder of Professor Tim Ball, the highly-trained staff has solved this perplexing case. The solution is as shocking as the heinous crime itself.

The perpetrator was none other than Winnipeg's sexy senior citizen, the Dowager Duchess, who flew into a rage at discovering that she had been bumped from Professor Ball's Seniors' course by a mere stripling of only 67 years. She did it with a hat pin.

SECURITY GOES ON DISPLAY

The University of Winnipeg's Security staff was on hand to provide tips on crime prevention during a display on Sept. 24 outside Riddell Cafeteria.

Students and staff had the opportunity to pick up pamphlets and handouts, try the many locks on display, and watch a film entitled "Caution Watchword" on crime prevention for women.

Trish Farrish, Supervisor of Security Services, says that she is particularly concerned about women working at the University late at night. She advises women in this situation to travel in pairs when walking to their vehicles if possible or to take advantage of Security's "escort" service. Simply call 786-9235 and have a security guard walk you to your car.

If you decide to walk to the parking lot by yourself, Farrish suggests taking a few precautions. Before you even leave the office, have your keys in hand so you don't have to search for them in the parking lot. Keys can also be used as a weapon in case of attack.

Also, using the stairs is preferable to taking the elevator because there are more ways to escape if pursued and an attacker can be easily pushed off balance.

Whenever you're working late, Security would appreciate being informed. A quick phone call will let them know who is still in the building and where extra security checks are needed.

Farrish says one of the most frequent complaints from staff is purse and wallet thefts. "A reality of being a downtown university is that more outsiders have access to the campus," she explains.

Never leave your purse or wallet unattended - even for a minute. They should be safely tucked away in a desk drawer or filing cabinet in your office at all times.

Several students at the display questioned Security staff about preventing locker break-ins. Farrish says that in 1986, 191 locker break-ins were reported. Farrish is pleased staff and students are conscientious about reporting them, but believes many of these thefts could have been prevented with the use of quality locks.

Farrish recommends students use key locks instead of combination locks to better protect their belongings. Not only are they usually less expensive, but they also have a double ball bearing which makes them more difficult to break.

Another tip is to get to know your locker partner and neighbors. Watching out for each other's property can make a theft less likely.

All locker break-ins should be reported even if nothing has been taken. Guards begin to recognize patterns to thefts and can provide extra surveillance in areas of high occurrence.

Farrish says that students and staff can assist security staff by reporting thefts and suspicious people or activities. "Students and staff must work together to keep the University crime-free," she says.

FACULTY TEAM DEFEATS STUDENT CHALLENGERS ONCE AGAIN

As the decade of the '80's moves along, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the Faculty and Staff softball teams simply have too much experience for the Student challenge teams. The 1987 game was played at Omand's Creek Field on Wed., Sept. 30 and despite the fact that Dr. Bedford had to juggle his line-up due to the absence of six regulars, the Faculty still overpowered the Students by a 35-9 score. Missing from the line-up were Dr. Farquhar (sprained ankle), Dean McIntyre, Mary Young (catcher, with a fractured foot), Dr. Anderson (on leave), and two outfielders from the Chemistry Department (Danchura and Friesen). Also, Steve Ladochy, Geography, had been "traded" to California in the "off season."

The barrage of hits and runs accounted for a number of new records:

- Most runs, both teams - 44 (old record, 43, in 1985)
- most hits, one team -

51 by Faculty (old record, 40, in 1985)

- most hits, both teams - 73 (old record, 56, in 1985)

The four home runs by four different Faculty hitters, including Tittenberger's "grand slam," equalled the 1963 record, when Roy Jauch (with 2), Jack Thiessen (German), and John Cote (Psychology) all homered. The five home runs by both teams fell two short of the record seven hits in the 1963 game. The triple play pulled by the Faculty in the fourth inning was the first ever in the 38 year history of the classic.

Faculty have now won seven successive times (a record), and the last time the students triumphed was the 9-5 win on Oct. 4, 1975.

The line score: Faculty: 4 5 0 9 8 5 4
Runs-35 Hits-51 LOB-10 Students: 10
2 0 1 0 5 Runs-9 Hits-22 LOB-9

The umpire was Dr. Robin Farquhar.

RESTRICTED SMOKING TO BE STUDIED ON CAMPUS

Psychology Department members Kristine Hansen and Ron Norton will be conducting research on the phenomenon of restricted smoking. The investigation may have a practical application in the design of programs to assist people who can't quit completely to at least decrease their cigarette consumption.

From casual observation, Professors Hansen and Norton have noticed that several people on campus follow some personal rule(s) that restrict their smoking to certain times, places, circumstances, or amounts. Examples include smoking only at work or only at home, smoking only on fishing trips or vacations, smoking only when drinking or only after meals. They have even heard of someone who alternates smoking and not smoking from one year to the next. To their knowledge, this phenomenon has not been examined scientifically.

The researchers will be asking all university employees, smokers and nonsmokers to complete a short questionnaire concerning demographic status and present and past smoking habits. In the second phase of the project, those who consent will be interviewed to gain further information about how smoking restriction works. All employees are asked to take a few minutes to complete and return the preliminary questionnaire.

Confidentiality is assured, and the project has no connection with the development of a university smoking policy.
