

"BURNING THE MIDNIGHT OIL" IN THE ATHLETIC CENTRE

Students studying for Christmas exams will be able to "burn the midnight oil" on the 2nd floor of the Athletic Centre this year.

The Property and Physical Planning Committee recently approved the designation of an overnight study area in the Athletic Centre from Nov. 18 to Dec. 18. The area will be run on a trial basis with the possibility of setting up the same system before exams in April, 1988.

At the board meeting on Oct. 26, Executive Assistant Arnold D'Souza and V.P. Academic Cindy Burke, both of the U.W.S.A., raised the issue of inadequate study space in the University. The students noted that the University lacks the funds and the physical space to actually expand study hall facilities so they asked the administration to consider extending the number of hours available for students to study on campus. They proposed blocking off the Lockhart Hall Bufferia for an overnight study hall.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

The Alumni Association will host a reception for the recipients of the Alumni Entrance Scholarship Program (A.E.S.P.) on Nov. 24 at the Faculty and Staff Club.

The program, established by the Alumni Association, recognizes Manitoba high school students who have combined outstanding academic achievement with significant contributions to the school and community. A.E.S.P. encourages these students to pursue their post-secondary education at The University of Winnipeg in the program of their choice. Each scholarship is valued at $1,500 and is disbursed at the rate of $300 per full course over one academic year (or five full-course-equivalents, which may be taken over a period of 2 years).

The 1987-88 recipients are Kevin Dearing, Birgrit Dotzlaw, Diane Keddie, Michelle Lajzerowicz, Rosemary Li, Stella Loscerbo and Christine Szymanski all from Winnipeg, Carla Bridge from Hamiota and Jason Dyck from Selkirk.

In 1973, the Alumni Association initiated the A.E.S. Program as a means to provide one $500 entrance scholarship from each of the graduating classes from the pre-30s to date. It provided a unique way by which The University of Winnipeg graduates could contribute to the tradition of academic excellence at the University.

The continued support of the alumni classes has enabled approximately 600 students to receive an award applicable to their tuition fees. Very recently, however, it was recognized that the effects of inflation upon the value of the awards had to be considered.

In an effort to revitalize the Alumni Entrance Scholarship Program and maintain the spirit of the Alumni's commitment to outstanding academic standards and achievement, the value of the scholarships was increased. Now, nine students receive scholarships of $1,500 each, whereas in the past, 49 students were awarded scholarships of $600 each. This increase in value makes the Alumni Entrance Scholarship Program the most prestigious entrance award program in the province.

The upcoming reception at the Faculty and Staff Club provides an opportunity for dedicated alumni to express their interest and commitment to the University and to visibly show their support for the students who are working toward their university degrees.

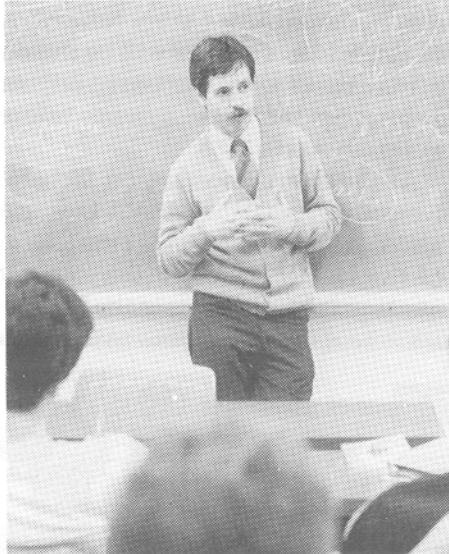

TOPPER WINS FELLOWSHIP FOR EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING

David Topper of the History Department was one of 10 professors in Canada to receive a 1987 3M teaching fellowship, an award sponsored by 3M Canada Inc. and the Society for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education.

Topper was selected from among 85 nominations submitted from 33 universities.

The fellowships, offered for the first time in 1986, are intended to recognize excellence in university-level teaching as judged by students and colleagues. The award also recognizes the fellows' commitment to improving the quality of teaching within their own institutions and beyond.

Topper was pleased that he was selected for the fellowship and thinks it reflects well on The University of Winnipeg. "This award is good for the University," he said. "Because we so often take a back seat to other schools in Canada, winning this fellowship is good national recognition for the University." Along with the other fellows, Topper was rewarded with a citation and presentation from 3M at a special seminar on teaching and learning in Chateau Montebello in Quebec last week.

David Topper of the History Department was recognized for excellence in teaching at the university level.

Topper said he enjoyed the opportunity to talk about teaching with colleagues and was fascinated by the wide-range of personalities, teaching philosophies and techniques of the group.

Topper has been at The University of Winnipeg for 17 years and is currently teaching History of Art and History of Science. He said that through trial and error, he has developed his own philosophy. "I believe the interest and enthusiasm of a teacher can inspire students, but I also think that students ultimately teach themselves. The teacher's role is to guide his/her students," Topper said.

"The students' request had a lot of merit," said Steve Coppinger, Executive Director of Support Services. "Their proposal was well thought out and covered most of the administration's concerns. However, we felt the Athletic Centre would be a more appropriate area for this purpose and the students seem very satisfied with this arrangement."

According to Coppinger, the 2nd floor of the Athletic Centre offers a larger and more comfortable space for students, vending machines and washrooms as well as tighter security. Additional security will be provided to monitor the area.

CHARITY BEAR STAR OF SPECIAL OLYMPICS FUND-RAISING CAMPAIGN

The Manitoba Special Olympics has recently launched its largest single fund-raising effort to date - the 1987 Christmas Charity Bear Campaign.

The star of the campaign is Charity Bear, a 13-inch plush white toy available until Christmas at all Bay stores for $14.99. For each bear sold, The Bay will donate $1 to the Winnipeg Jets Goals for Kids Foundation in support of Manitoba Special Olympics. This year's campaign goal is approximately $30,000 for the Special Olympics.

Manitoba Special Olympics is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing fitness, recreation and sport programs for the province's mentally handicapped population.

NEW BOARD ELECTED FOR THE FACULTY & STAFF CLUB

Susan Mangotich of Employee Relations was elected President of The Faculty and Staff Club Board of Directors at a General Meeting on Nov. 6.

Other board members elected were Ron Norton (Psychology), Doug Skoog (Sociology), Bonnie Archibald (Office of the President), Anne Bawden (Alumni Affairs), Anita Kroeger (Continuing Education), Mark Lauze (Computer Services) and Veronica Peters (Office of the Controller). The University representative to the board is Steve Coppinger, Executive Director of Support Services.

At the meeting, Past-President Ed Byard complimented new manager Brent Daum on the many improvements in the club. "We now have full table service which is efficient and a menu which is reasonably priced," said Byard. "The 'cattle line' is gone, the tablecloths are clean and the food is good. Clearly, the club is now a much more comfortable place to be."

Byard also noted that the club has the largest membership in its history with over 200 paid members and is becoming very popular with outside groups and various departments within the University.

According to Byard, the club has accumulated a small deficit, but he attributes this to poor bookkeeping practices in the past as well as the efforts by the new manager to upgrade the facilities and services.

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM WINS INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION

The local chapter of The Association of Records Managers and Administrators (ARMA) has won international recognition for their help in creating the University's new Certificate Program in Records and Information Management offered by the Continuing Education Division.

The establishment of the certificate program was one of the main reasons the Winnipeg chapter of ARMA won the Small Chapter of the Year Award, says Linda Simpson, the University's Director of Records and Member of the Year for the local association.

"It's a real tribute to the University to have one of its certificate programs recognized by ARMA," says Simpson. ARMA, a non-profit professional association, has over 115 chapters in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico as well as members throughout the world. The association is dedicated to the research, development, and exchange of ideas and knowledge in the area of records management.

The University's certificate program, approved by the Senate in March and offered for the first time in September, teaches students how to handle and manage business paperwork and other recorded information.

But this means much more than folders and filing cabinets in today's information age, states Simpson. Now, a manager must be knowledgeable in not only traditional methods, but also newer technologies such as automated systems, integrated networks and micrographics.

"Records management was born out of the computer age," Simpson says. "We need to know how to access, manage and manipulate a great deal of information to meet the needs of an organization."

Simpson adds that records management is needed for just about every organization. Large and small businesses, government, educational institutions and charity groups can all benefit from learning more efficient and cost-effective ways to record, update and store records and information.
