VOL. 6 NO. 1

EXPERTS TO FOCUS ON FUTURE AT NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Margaret Catley-Carlson, President of CIDA, and Peter Mansbridge, Chief Correspondent for CBC Television News and anchor of the Journal, will be just two of the many prominent speakers at the "Future Visions Conference."

The University of Winnipeg Continuing Education Division will host a major national conference Oct. 2-4 at the Holiday Inn Downtown, 350 St. Mary Avenue. The Future Visions conference will feature several prominent public figures speaking about their vision of Canada and the world in the 21st century.

Conference Chairman Waris Shere believes the purpose of this conference is to promote awareness and discussion of emerging trends, exciting innovations and areas of possible growth and decline in a number of different fields.

"We need to assess what the future holds for us," Shere said. "The speakers that we have assembled for Future Visions are distinguished scientists, scholars, planners and policy makers who are at the center of change and would, therefore, be in a better position to make predictions about the future."

Some of the many notable speakers will be Peter Mansbridge, Chief Correspondent, CBC Television News and Anchor of The National; Honorable Jake Epp, Minister of National Health and Welfare; Right Honorable Edward Schreyer, former Governor General of Canada; Dr. Geraldine Kenney-Wallace, Chairman, Science Council of Canada; Robert Ferchat, President, Northern Telecom Canada; and Margaret Catley-Carlson, President, Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA).

The three-day program will cover topics such as "The Role of the Media in the Future," "Future Scenarios for the Health Care System," "Changing Employment Patterns in the Automated Society" and "Visions of the Future: Science that Shapes our Choices."

The following organizations provided support to the University for the Future Visions conference: Manitoba Hydro, Province of Manitoba, Canadian Life and Health Insurance Association Inc., Manitoba Telephone System, Canadian Institute of Industrial Technology, Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce, CBC Winnipeg, CKND Winnipeg, The City of Winnipeg, CIDA, Investor's Group.

For more information or to register for the conference, please call Continuing Education at 786-9469.

MENNO SIMONS COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG SIGN AFFILIATION AGREEMENT

The University of Winnipeg and Menno Simons College recently signed an Agreement of Affiliation to establish two joint academic programs: Conflict Resolution Studies and Social and Economic Development Studies.

The College, tentatively scheduled to open on or adjacent to the University campus in 1989, will offer degree programs with majors in the two joint programs as well as in Mennonite Studies.

Since 1985 The University of Winnipeg has fostered close ties with the work of the Mennonite community. The forerunner of the new Menno Simons College, the Mennonite Studies Centre, has been located on The University of Winnipeg campus for the past three years. One of the Centre's goals has been to open an autonomous college which is affiliated with the University.

Both the Conflict Resolution Studies program and the Social and Economic Development Studies program will draw on several of the University's resources such as the faculty, the library and courses already offered. The two programs, inter-disciplinary in their course requirements and electives, will be available to both Mennonite and non-Mennonite students.

The Conflict Resolution Studies program will introduce students to the issues of peace and war and will focus on causes of human conflict and on realistic ways of resolving conflicts in the 20th century.

Studies in Social and Economic Development will introduce students to issues related to developing areas and prepare them for eventual involvement in underdeveloped regions all over the world.

Gordon McKinnon, Chair of the Board of Regents, left, and David D. Friesen QC, Chair of the Board of Directors, Mennonite Studies Centre, sign an Affiliation Agreement to establish two new programs.

3M FELLOWSHIPS OPEN FOR NOMINATIONS

A call for nominations has been issued for 10 3M Teaching Fellowships available to university instructors for 1988.

The fellowships are sponsored by 3M Canada Inc. and the Society for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education, and are intended to recognize outstanding contributions to teaching and learning in Canadian universities.

These one-year fellowships are open to any individual currently teaching at a Canadian university regardless of discipline or level of appointment. In 1988, some preference will be given to applicants from Quebec and Atlantic Canada. This is the last year of special consideration for a particular region of Canada since, by 1990, there will be a nucleus of 3M Fellows in each area of the country.

Each fellowship includes a citation and an invitation to a three-day, all expenses paid seminar to be held at the Chateau Montebello, Nov. 13 - 15. The seminar is designed to celebrate exceptional achievements in teaching and to provide an opportunity for outstanding teachers to share experiences.

The deadline for receipt of completed nominations is Sept. 30. For more information, please call Lois Cherney, Public Relations Department, at 786-9134.

FIRST-YEAR UNIVERSITY SCIENCE STUDENTS RECEIVE CANADA SCHOLARSHIP

GUIDE TO INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT RESEARCH CENTRE NOW AVAILABLE

Norman Wasel: one of nine Canada Scholars starting a Science program at The University of Winnipeg this year.

Norman Wasel, a graduate of The University of Winnipeg Collegiate who will be entering his first year of Sciences at The University of Winnipeg, was one of 2,500 students selected from across the country to receive the Canada Scholarship. He was also one of 54 invited to Ottawa Aug. 28 - 30 to accept the award.

The Canada Scholarship, awarded for the first time by the Ministry of Science and Technology, is a national recognition of outstanding achievement and a way of encouraging the best and the brightest high-school students to pursue undergraduate degrees in science and engineering. A Canada Scholarship is worth $2,000 per year and can be renewed for up to three years.

In addition to winning the Canada Scholarship, Wasel recently received the Governor General's Award for his final year at the Collegiate and an Alumni Entrance Scholarship toward his first year at The University of Winnipeg.

Other Canada Scholars who are entering their first year at The University of Winnipeg are Bradley Derendorf of Westwood Collegiate; Mauricia Matewish, Darren Robinson and Charlene Wolfe of John Taylor High School; David Reimer and Wendy Tretiak of Garden City High School; Joanna Szelazek of Kelvin High School; and Shannon Zacharias of Oak Park High School.

Scholars are nominated by post-secondary institutions from their list of eligible applicants. At least half of all Canada Scholarships are awarded to academically outstanding women, to encourage greater participation in scientific and engineering fields, where representation by women has been lowest. At least 10 scholarships are awarded to the top students from each province or territory.

The International Division of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) has recently completed a comprehensive guide to the operations of the International Development Research Centre (IDRC).

The Research Centre is a crown corporation based in Ottawa, whose principal mandate is to contribute to international development through the support of research capability in the Third World.

The guide, now available, is a bilingual publication entitled The International Development Research Centre: A Guide for the Canadian University Research Community/ Le Centre de recherches pour le developpement international: Guide a l'intention des scientifiques des universites canadiennes. It is available free of charge from AUCC Publications, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5N1; Telephone: (613) 563-1236.

UNIVERSITY CONTINUES TRADITION OF GREAT ROCK CLIMB

The University of Winnipeg's 17th Annual Great Rock Climb will take place on Friday, Sept. 16 at 12:30 p.m. on the front lawn of the University.

In teams of three, students, faculty, staff and alumni are invited to test their climbing skills as they attempt to scale the University's 25-ton Centennial Rock in a race against time.

The Great Rock Climb course is 91.44 metres in distance measured from the front door of Wesley Hall to the base of the rock. The record is held by the 1979 Collegiate alumni team which completed the task in 9.8 seconds.

The tradition of the Great Rock Climb dates back to 1972. The following is a description of the second Climb from the Uniter, Oct. 3, 1973:

The second annual "Great Rock Climb," sponsored by The University of Winnipeg, was held Monday. Amid the backdrop of lush green grass and trampled flowers, the bold brown rock beckoned challengers of all sizes.

First prize of $21 and a hearty steak dinner for three went to the combined Engineering-Maintenance squad of Messrs. Addis, Rymar and Shelby. The sure-footed Alpiners turned in a very respectable three-man climb of 19 seconds.

Fearless budget-cutting President Don Lidstone led a hasty "pick-up" team placing tenth in the field of 16, which featured entries from most faculties and the Collegiate.

Runners-up in the hour-long spectacle was a darkhorse freshman arts group featuring a member of the fairer sex who received her just reward from a blushing President Duckworth.

Defending champions Messrs. Klipperstein, Miller and Youngson representing the Computer Centre turned in a disappointing time of 22 seconds, three seconds off the pace. Their time was enough to guarantee them third place but was a far cry from their rumoured eight second trial run earlier in the day. On the lighter side, frustration and comedy ran high as, time after time, two climbers would struggle their way to the summit, only to be dragged down again by an embarrassed last man.

NEW SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED IN HONOUR OF FORMER CHANCELLOR

A new scholarship was established in honour of Dr. Paul Thorlakson, former Chancellor of the University.

A new scholarship in the field of Canadian History was established at The University of Winnipeg in honour of Dr. Paul H. T. Thorlakson. Dr. Thorlakson, a prominent Winnipeg surgeon and founder of the Winnipeg Clinic, served as the University's second Chancellor from 1969-78.

The scholarship is being funded by Dr. Arnold and Mrs. Erica Rogers, generous benefactors of the University and long-time friends of Dr. Thorlakson.

The Dr. Paul H. T. Thorlakson Scholarship in Canadian History will be awarded annually to the most promising student entering his/her final year of an Honours program specializing in Canadian History and preferably, but not necessarily, in Western Canadian History.

The scholarship is valued at approximately $1,000 and will first be presented in May, 1989.

The University of Winnipeg is proud to offer a scholarship in the name of such an outstanding Manitoban as Dr. Thorlakson. Dr. Thorlakson was born in North Dakota in 1895, but grew up in Selkirk, Manitoba. Following overseas service as a medical sergeant during World War I, he received his medical degree from the University of Manitoba in 1919.

After practicing at Shoal Lake, Manitoba, and undertaking post-graduate training in surgery in London and on the continent, Dr. Thorlakson entered group practice in Winnipeg in 1926. Dr. Thorlakson founded the Winnipeg Clinic in 1938. He became the president of the Clinic in 1967 and is currently their honorary president.

Dr. Thorlakson served as surgeon-in-chief at the Winnipeg General Hospital and professor of surgery at the University of Manitoba.

Dr. Thorlakson received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Manitoba in 1952, an honorary Doctor of Medicine from the University of Iceland in 1961 and an honorary Doctor of Science from Brandon University in 1970. In that same year, he was appointed a Companion of the Order of Canada. In 1979 The University of Winnipeg conferred an honorary degree, Doctor of Laws (LL.D.), on Dr. Thorlakson.

In 1968 Dr. Thorlakson was awarded an honorary fellowship in the International College of Surgeons, the first Manitoba doctor so honored. He was president and general chairman of the first International Congress on Group Medicine held in Winnipeg in 1970, and executive vice-president for the second International Congress in Rio de Janeiro in 1973. That year he was also the recipient of the National Human Relations Award of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Thorlakson served as Canada's official representative at the celebration of Iceland's 1,100th anniversary in 1974 and as chairman of the Centenaries Celebration Committee to honour the Icelandic centenary in 1975.

Between the years 1976 and 1978, Dr. Thorlakson received the Distinguished Service Award of the Manitoba Medical Association (1976), the Canadian Silver Jubilee medal commemorating the 25th anniversary of the accession of Queen Elizabeth II to the Throne (1977), and in 1978, The Paul H. T. Thorlakson Research Foundation Incorporated was created by the directors and members of the Winnipeg Clinic Research Institute in recognition of Dr. Thorlakson's many contributions to Winnipeg, Manitoba and Canada.

The Alumni Entrance Scholarship Program (A.E.S.P.)

The Alumni Entrance Scholarship Program (A.E.S.P.) was established to encourage Manitoba high school students to pursue their post-secondary education at The University of Winnipeg in the program of their choice. Alumni Entrance Scholarships are awarded to students who combine outstanding academic achievement with significant extracurricular contributions to school and community.

Each scholarship is valued at $1,500. Six to 10 awards are given annually. The award is applicable to any program of study in the first year at The University of Winnipeg.

June, 1988 award recipients were Michelle Armstrong, Tuxedo-Shaftesbury High; Brian Jones, Lord Selkirk Regional; Henry Kardel, Winnipeg Adult Education Centre; Michaela Navratil, Gordon Bell High School; Helene Strasser, Goose Lake High School; Norman Wasel, University of Winnipeg Collegiate; Alia Wetherow, Vincent Massey High School; and Charlene Wolfe, John Taylor Collegiate.

Leslie: Maybe if we move just a little bit closer.
Lesley: I don't get it.
Leslie: Well, it's a shape.
Lesley: I can see that.
Leslie: Sometimes I just can't stand your attitude.
Lesley: What's that supposed to mean?
Leslie: Well sometimes you just don't dare get close to anything. It's like the way you deal with my mother.
Lesley: I can hardly get any closer.
Leslie: Well, still.
Lesley: Does this have anything to do with last night, I wonder?
Leslie: Don't be silly. We're talking about art.
