Board Approves New Committee Structure

A new committee structure has been approved for the Board of Regents in an effort to maximize the talents of all Board members.

"We have a very strong Board," said Chair Margaret McPherson. "But all the members, who volunteer their time, are very busy people. We need a new structure that makes use of their time as effectively as possible."

McPherson noted that the Board had been experiencing a "proliferation of committees with varying degrees of responsibility." Some committees, she said, met weekly, while others would seldom get together. Some dealt with very large issues while others had narrow mandates.

"Depending on which committees you were on, you could either be overburdened or not very involved at all," explained McPherson.

In the new structure, all business coming to the Board will be handled by five major committees: Finance, Property and Physical Planning, Human Resources, University Affairs, and External Relations. Each Board member will join at least one of these committees.

"The main reward will be that every Regent will be involved with a major component of University life," said McPherson. "Everyone will become more fa-

Charter Day Volleyball Tournament a Great Success

Over 100 participants, 12 teams in all, participated in the 25th anniversary Charter Day volleyball tournament.

The tournament was held at the Duckworth Centre, and more than 30 students, recruited by Larry McKay, men's volleyball coach, helped to set up the event, referee and keep score. Master of Ceremonies Bill Wedlake, men's basketball coach, presented certificates of participation to all team members.

Prizes were awarded in the following categories:

- first place champions (trophy winners)
 - Two Timers (UWSA)
- second place
 - Red Menace (Media/Computer Services)
- third place - One for All (UWSA)
- most creative
 - Georgie's Girls (Versa Foods)
- lowest score - Michael Jordan's Coaching Staff (Versa Foods)
- highest score
 - Red Menace

Numerous door prizes were also given out, thanks

Dental Claim Forms

Manitoba Blue Cross has provided the University with new forms to be used when making a claim for dental services. The new forms have the University logo on them and specify that pre-authorization for dental treatment in excess of $500 is recommended rather than required, as is indicated on the standard Blue Cross claim forms.

Starting Nov. 1, you will require a new University claim form when requesting reimbursement for dental treatment from Blue Cross. The old claim forms will be accepted by Blue Cross only up to the end of October. Please discard any dental claim forms that you currently have on hand. If you have a scheduled appointment with your dentist, please call or drop by the Employee Relations office to obtain a new form.

University of Winnipeg Athletes Honoured

Basketball star Sandra Carroll of was one of seven University of Winnipeg athletes to be named an Academic All-Canadian.

Seven athletes from The University of Winnipeg have been named Academic All-Canadians by the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU).

Wesmen included on the list are Sandra Carroll, Andrea Hutchens and Larissa Waschuk from women's basketball, Kelly Livesley, Laura Menheer and Tara Patrick from women's volleyball, and Derek Hebner from men's volleyball. Carroll was also tournament all-star in the 1992 women's basketball championship.

To qualify as an Academic All-Canadian the student-athlete must be enrolled as a full-time student in a recognized degree granting program, have maintained a minimum sessional average of 80 per cent and be a member of the institution's varsity team(s). There were 490 recipients of the honour from across Canada.

"The 490 student-athletes are honoured because they were able to combine academic excellence with athletic achievement," says CIAU Executive Vice President Marc Lowry. Lowry adds that the students' academic excellence is all the more remarkable considering their extensive competitive season.

Library Asks for Referendum Material

Do you have any material pertaining to either the "yes" or the "no" side in the upcoming referendum on the constitution? If you have, and you're willing to part with it, The University of Winnipeg library would like it for their files.

While the library has already received some material from both sides in the debate, it tries to document major political events, such as this one, as fully as possible.

Please send material to Linwood DeLong, Library Reference Department, 786-9124.

miliar with key University issues and be able to make a more effective contribution." This, she believes, will streamline the Board's operations and enhance the quality of decision-making.

Two of the five committees in the new structure - Finance, and Property and Physical Planning - will have virtually the same responsibilities as in the past. However, the three other committees have taken over duties previously shared by many smaller committees.

The new Human Resources Committee will deal with all employee-related matters, such as faculty relations, research, employment equity and study leaves. The University Affairs Committee will now look after areas like student services, enrolment, recruitment and the library. The External Relations Committee, formerly the Development Committee, has an expanded mandate which includes not only development, but also public relations, alumni and government relations.

Along with these changes at the committee level, the Board has approved a reduction in responsibilities for the Board executive. Now, only "emergency situations" will be handled by the executive. Developmental activities, such as the creation of new policies, will be referred to the full Board or specific committees.

Students Come Closer — But Lose Again

The 1992 renewal of the traditional faculty-student autumn ball game was played under ideal conditions on Sept. 23 at Omand's Creek field - ideal, apart from several inches of water lying in right field. The students fielded the strongest team in several years, and were leading an apparent out-of-condition faculty squad by 12-8 after three innings. But at that point the professors tightened their defence, allowed only one run the rest of the way, and came up with a six-run sixth inning on the strength of Peter Tittenberger's bases-clearing triple. The students thus came up short again, after a promising start, and have still won but one game since 1980.

Starring for faculty-staff was Mary Young, who moved to first base from her customary catching position and proceeded to go 5 for 5 at the plate and score three times. Tittenberger belted 4 for 5 and scored three, while Ken Friesen (Chemistry) went 4 for 4 and also scored four runs. On the student side Ben Stevens (l.f.) and Richard Wesley (catcher) led the way as each batted 3 for 4 and scored twice. Rich Dewar (ss) and Scott Cairns (1b) were 2 for 4 and 2 for 3 respectively and both scored twice. Bruce Tulloch (relieved by Kim Hope) pitched, scored two runs, and delivered the only home run of the game, aided by two faculty fielders who slithered about in the right-field swamp in search of a slippery ball. Cindy Lewkiw, relieved by Andrew Kingsley, handled the faculty pitching chores, and Ken Friesen made his debut as catcher, after years in the outfield. Peggy Day (Religious Studies) made her debut as the new playing-manager of the faculty team. Newly arrived Dean Don Hall made his first appearance on the team, taking over at third base for former Dean Michael McIntyre in late innings. Gerry Bedford acted as umpire for the game.

Call for Papers

Women in Post-Secondary Education (WIPSE), a coalition of professional, educational and women's organizations, based in Manitoba, is calling for papers.

A major objective of the organization is to publish papers or briefs on policies and/or practices in post-secondary education which have an adverse or beneficial impact on women.

Papers should be submitted by Mar. 31, 1993 for publication in the fall, 1993. An abstract or letter of intent is required by Oct. 31, 1992.

For further information on paper topics, the resulting publication or WIPSE, please contact Jackie Stalker, project director, at 474-9071.

Board of Regents Report

With the starting of the fall term at the University, the Board of Regents also begins a new phase in its life; there are new Regents, a new Board structure and a new chair of the Board.

Harvey Sexter, now past chair, had led the Board through a number of exciting challenges, one of which was a proposal to reorganize the Board's operations through a new Board structure. In early 1991, the Board began a thorough examination of the Board structure that included a workshop on the issue, followed by a decision to embark on reorganizing Board responsibilities under new bylaws.

A subcommittee of the Board's executive undertook the task and circulated a proposed revision of Bylaws 1 to 4 to Board members in early September, 1992. This proposal was the major focus of the Board meeting on Sept. 28 and, with minor amendments, the Board approved the new Bylaw 1/92. This bylaw established the formation of five major committees, designated their responsibilities and committee composition, and diminished the role of the Executive Committee of the Board. Bylaw 3/92 that deals with a Pension Committee will be considered at the October Board meeting.

At the meeting the Board received a comprehensive report on the University's activities from President Marsha Hanen as well as a report from the Executive Committee indicating actions taken by the executive over the summer. These included giving approval in principle to the 1993-94 estimates before forwarding them to the Universities Grants Commission, approving a resolution that there be three associate deans in arts and science with no specific designation as to responsibilities, and approving a recommendation from the Student Affairs Committee.

This latter recommendation was a response to a motion made by the University of Winnipeg Students' Association representatives on the Board concerning tuition fees. The recommendation was that an ad hoc committee comprised of students and administration work together to attempt to produce a joint statement for the University Education Review Commission on matters of funding, tuition and student aid.

Reports for information were received from former standing committees, including a report from the Nominating Committee that presented the names of the Regents assigned to the five new committees. It is expected that the new committees will begin their work as soon as possible. Personnel matters involving appointments and leaves were decided during the closed session of the meeting.

Prior to the regular Board meeting, an orientation session was held for new Board members, particularly external Regents. The president and the two vice-presidents along with the chair of the Board spoke to the gathering on different aspects of the University's life and operation. A tour of the campus will be taken prior to the October Board meeting to complete the orientation process.

It appears that the Board will have a number of important issues to respond to this fall. I look forward to the challenges that are before us and am grateful for the opportunity to report the Board's activities to you through in edition.

Board Welcomes New Members

The University of Winnipeg Board of Regents announces seven new members:

Art Miki, principal of Joseph Teres School, is a new alumni Regent. Miki is president of the National Association of Japanese Canadians. He was awarded the Order of Canada in recognition of his efforts to obtain reparations for Japanese-Canadians who were wrongfully interned during World War II.

University of Winnipeg alumna Joy Wood is a new United Church representative to the Board. Wood is manager of the Grant Park branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. She has also served on the board of the United Way of Winnipeg.

Christel Spletzer is one of two new government Regents. She is active in the local German community, and is one of the sponsors of the German-Canadian chair at The University of Winnipeg.

New government Regent Ray Wyant is a crown attorney with the Manitoba Department of Justice. Wyant is a member and a past chair of the Fort Garry School Division Board.

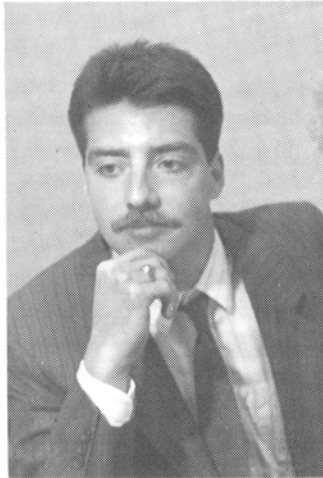

Wendy Phaneuf, program officer in the Division of Continuing Education, will represent the support staff of The University of Winnipeg.

Alissa Brandt and Jennifer Greaves are two new student Regents. Brandt works in the Info Booth and is a University Relations volunteer worker.

Hats off to all the contestants for best hat at the Mad Hatter's Tea Party on Sept. 22. This was one of several events held for student orientation this year.

In Memoriam
Brent Todd

Brent Todd, an employee of The University of Winnipeg since 1985, passed away suddenly on Sept. 6 at age 28.

Brent was a programmer/analyst in Computer Services and played a large part in developing the computer systems in Media Services, the Library and the Collegiate. He received his training in computers at the Manitoba Technical Training Centre and graduated with a Computer Programming Diploma in 1985.

Sports played a major part in Brent's life. He was very enthusiastic about baseball, acting as both player and manager of the "Reds" slo-pitch team. Throughout the baseball season, Brent also played for several other baseball teams.

Bowling, golfing and volleyball were other sports that Brent enjoyed. As a member of the "Terminally Insane" volleyball team at the University, he led his co-workers in Computer Services to victory in the first two years of the faculty/staff volleyball tournament.

Brent will especially be remembered for his zest for life. He had a great love of travelling and did so on a regular basis.

The Brent Todd Memorial Fund has been initiated for his love of baseball. Those wishing to make donations may do so in care of P.O. Box 2121, Winnipeg, R3C 3R4.

A social to raise money for the memorial fund is being held at The University of Winnipeg on Sat., Nov. 28 at 8 p.m. Music by "Million Civilians." Organizers have chosen a baseball theme for the event and are calling it a "Field of Dreams" social. A free raffle ticket will be given to everyone who wears baseball attire. Tickets are $9 and are available by calling Peter Tittenberger (786-9828) of Media Services or Mark Lauze (786-9331) of Computer Services.

Economics Program Called A Model for Education

The economics program at The University of Winnipeg is "a model for undergraduate education in Canada," according to the Western Economics Chairs Committee.

Sohrab Abizadeh, associate dean and economics professor, said the committee was impressed with The University of Winnipeg's program, calling it "up-to-date and progressive."

Acting chair of the Economics Department Phil Cyrenne explained that there have been many revisions to the program's curriculum and research agenda in the past decade.

Since 1985-86, the department has been conducting a formal review of the curriculum, and according to Cyrenne, has been "constantly making changes."

"We've worked for a long time to create a balance in theory and application in our curriculum. We've also strengthened the quantitative aspect, which was almost nonexistent 10 years ago."

Major changes include more rigorous pre-requisites and an honours program that prepares students for entry into either a graduate program or directly into the job market.

Another improvement is that the program is much more accessible to students. More economics courses are now offered, particularly in the spring and summer sessions when demand is very high. According to Abizadeh, this seems to have attracted more students.

Along with a growth in student numbers, there has been an increase in research activity of the eight faculty members. "In 1983-84, our department produced one publication and gave two conference presentations. Last year, we did at least 10 publications and five presentations," said Abizadeh.

Economics Professor Wilson Brown has just published a book, Markets, Organizations and Information (Butterworth, 1992). A specialist in health care economics, Diane Dewar recently presented a paper at the Atlantic Canada Conference. Cyrenne and Abizadeh also co-authored a paper on an empirical model on the nature of government revenue collection and expenditure.

Other faculty members are continuing their work in their specialties. Robert Fenton is doing research in environmental economics and lends his expertise to various government bodies. Hugh Grant is studying economic history, with a focus on the Hudson's Bay Company. Michael Benaroch's research is on economic development and international trade. Vic Olshevski continues to specialize in micro-economic theory and money and banking.

Departments Welcome New Chairs

The 1992-93 academic year brings a number of changes in departmental chairs.

Carl Ridd will be the acting chair for the Department of Religious Studies, as John Badertscher will be on administrative leave. Wing Sam Chow will be acting chair for the Department of Anthropology during Gary Granzberg's leave of absence.

Sarah McKinnon is the new chair of the History Department and Hinton Bradbury is the new chair of the Psychology Department.

Phil Cyrenne is the new acting chair of the Department of Economics, filling in for Sohrab Abizadeh, new associate dean of arts and science.

Krishna Ahooja-Patel of St. Mary's University participated in the women-focused research conference at The University of Winnipeg, Sept. 25 - 27. She spoke on "Gender Distance Among Countries."

Harry Loewen, chair in Mennonite Studies, has had several articles and book chapters published: "The Beginnings of Russian-Mennonite Literature in Canada, with a Focus on Gerhard Loewen (1863-1946)," in Acts of Concealment. Mennonite/s Writing in Canada, ed. by Hildi Froese Tiessen and Peter Hinchcliffe (Waterloo: Waterloo University Press, 1992); "Church and State in the Anabaptist - Mennonite Tradition: Christ versus Caesar?" in Baptism, Peace and the State in the Reformed and Mennonite Traditions, ed. by Ross T. Bender and Alan P.F. Sell (Waterloo: Wilfred Laurier University Press, 1991), pp. 145-65.

Loewen also has a new book out: No Permanent City - and other stories from Mennonite history and life (Scottsdale, PA: Herald Press, 1993).

Journal of Mennonite Studies, Vol. 10, 1992, is now available. Founded in 1983, this refereed journal is published by the chair in Mennonite Studies in cooperation with other Mennonite institutions. Loewen edited the first eight volumes of this journal. As of last year, JMS is edited jointly by Loewen and Al Reimer.

Paul Trudinger, of the Theology, Religious Studies and Music programs, attended the Annual Governors' Meeting at Manchester College, Oxford. He was also researching Welsh Hymnody and turn-of-the-century theology of rational dissenters at Coleg Coffa, University of Wales, Aberystwyth.

Trudinger's recent publications include "Hosanna to the Son of David!: St. John's Perspective," The Downside Review, Vol.CIX, No.4, pp. 297-301; "Vertical Grouping in Pre-School Education," Education Today, Vol.42, No.1, pp. 35-37; "The Historical Jesus: Two Recent Perspectives," Faith and Freedom, Vol.45 (1992); "No Room in the Inn: A Note on Luke, 2:7" The Expository Times, Vol.CII, No.6; "Great Eternal Spirit," (Hymn and Hymn-turn) Sacred Spaces, Vol.I, No.3; "A Down-to Earth Ascension: A Note on Philippians 2: 5-9," Faith and Freedom (Oxford), Vol. XLIV, No.3; "Jesus' 'Comfortable Words' in John 3:16: A Note of Disappointment to some?," St. Mark's Review, No 147, pp. 30-31; "St. Paul: A Unitarian Universalist Christian?," Faith and Freedom (Oxford), XLIII, pp. 55-58; "Rorty and the Refection of 'Foundation of Knowledge,'" The Philosopher LXXV, pp. 12-15.

Trudinger has also published another article, "Knowledge Without a Knowing Subject," which appears in The Philosopher (U.K.) No. 1, 1992.

Sante Viselli, Department of French, as vice-president of the Société d'Analyse de la Topique romanesque based in Montpellier, France organized an international conference on Utopia in Narrative Fiction held at The University of Winnipeg from Sept. 24 to 27. This event was attended by scholars from France, the United States, Portugal, Italy and Canada. Viselli recently published the following article: "La montagne chez Gabrielle Roy," Etudes canadiennes, No.30 (December 1991).

Liliane Rodriguez, Department of French, has recently published her second book with Les Editions des Palines (St. Boniface). Based partially on Rodriguez's experience in teaching phonetics at The University of Winnipeg, Parole et musique. Méthode de phonétique corrective is a theoretical and practical work addressing particular phonetic difficulties experienced by anglophones studying French, and is also intended for actors, musicians and singers who would like to discover the music of the French language. Rodriguez is currently conducting a research project in lexicology and Franco-Manitoban French.

Kenneth Meadwell, chair, Department of French, recently published the following articles: "Paul Verlaine's 'Moonlight,'" Masterplots II: Poetry, Pasadena: Salem Press, 1992; "Subjectivité et méamorphoses des acteurs féminins dans Les enfantômes de Réjean Ducharme," Etudes en littérature canadienne, vol.16, No.2 (1991); "Gilbert La Rocque" and "Marie José Thériault," Profiles in Canadian Literature, Vol.8, edited by J. Heath, Toronto: Dundurn Press; and "Montagnes et rêves dans le roman québécois de Laure Conan à Gilbert La Rocque," Etudes canadiennes, No. 30 (December 1991).

Dan Chekki, professor, Department of Sociology, has published a book, Communities in Transition, Research in Community Sociology, Vol.II, JAI Press Inc., Greenwich, Connecticut and London, England, 1992.

Sheena Gardner of the Bachelor of Education Program at The University of Winnipeg and Janet Carroll of the English Language Institute at the University of Manitoba were appointed editors of the TESL Canada Journal for a three-year term from 1991 to 1994. The Journal was established in 1984 and is issued twice yearly. It is edited and prepared for publication at The University of Winnipeg and the cover for the Winnipeg term is in University of Winnipeg colours.

The TESL Canada Journal is the leading national journal in the field of Teaching English as a Second Language, with a national and international circulation of over 5,500. It publishes articles dealing with diverse aspects of the teaching and learning of evaluation, psycholinguistics, sociolinguistics, applied linguistics, teacher education, methodology, and computer assisted learning.

Garin Burbank, associate professor, Department of History, read a paper entitled "Reagan's Only Defeat: The Proposition One Campaign in 1973," at the Pacific Coast Branch - American Historical Association meeting in Corvallis, Oregon, Aug. 14, 1992.

He also published a new article, "Speaker Moretti, Governor Reagan, and the Search for Tax Reform in California, 1970 - 1972," in Pacific Historical Review, 61:2 (May 1992), pp 193 - 214.

Classics Student Wins Two Prizes

"It's all Greek to me" is definitely not a phrase used by Liza Bowman. Earlier this year Bowman was awarded two prizes in the Canadian Association of Classics senior undergraduate competition in Greek and Latin.

The University of Winnipeg student won first prize in the Greek sight competition, which involves translating Greek into English. As well, she claimed second prize in the Latin sight competition.

Two years ago she took first prize in the junior Greek competition for second-year students.

Classics Professor Iain McDougall says, "The University of Winnipeg has been well represented in the competitions. Over the years we have outranked students from larger universities." Since 1984, The University of Winnipeg has won a total of 10 prizes in the competition.

The Canadian Association of Classics is officially a bi-lingual society, managed by the University of British Columbia. Each year representatives from different universities across Canada are invited to set passages for the competition. The entrants write the exam at their respective universities.

Bowman is in her fifth year of a double honours program in Classics and English at the University. She plans to apply to graduate school and is considering the study of 19th century English.
